Schaefer International Gallery

January 7 - February 23, 2020
Opening Reception January 5
The Woodworker’s Journey: Concept to Creation
We have invited an exceptional group of 25 artists from Hawai’i and the mainland U.S. with distinguished careers in woodworking to create one new piece for this exhibition. The work may be utilitarian or conceptual in design, with a refined conventional appeal or freeform fusion approach, using wood as the primary material.

March 8 - 29, 2020
Opening Reception March 7
Art Maui
Art Maui returns for its 42nd annual juried show featuring an array of work from Maui’s vibrant artist community, showcasing talents across a wide spectrum of media. Visitors can look forward to seeing works in painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, fiber, jewelry, sculpture, and mixed media.

April 14 - May 31, 2020
Opening Reception April 11
Abstraction×3
Three artists from Hawai’i individually address issues informing abstraction in the 21st century. Debra Drexler is Professor of Drawing and Painting, UH Mānoa, with a working studio in New York. Her work communicates on many levels, through the dynamics of temperature, saturation, and focus. In a daily art-making practice, Maui artist Debra Drexler has explored abstraction for over 40 years living on Kaua’i, using nature as inspiration in large-scale bold canvases imbued with dynamic gestural marks and a blended moody palette.

April 15 - May 27, 2020
Opening Reception April 15
Noble Richardson: Hear My Voice
Noble Richardson explores the complexities of the human condition through a variety of materials in drawing, painting, and sculpture, with a focus on the work that transpires rather than the process of creating. Tom Lieber, a Maui artist, explores abstraction for over 40 years living on Kaua’i, using nature as inspiration in large-scale bold canvases imbued with dynamic gestural marks and a blended moody palette.

June 14 - July 12, 2020
Opening Reception June 13
SeedLab: The Growing of Ideas
The gallery will become a creative play space for cultivating ideas with an ongoing work-in-progress under the guidance of artist-in-residence Wes Sam-Bruce, who made the unforgettable fort in the gallery, Taken By Wonder, 2013. Thematic learning areas will invite folks of all ages to contribute to a multimedia art installation. A culminating celebration at the end of the exhibit will invite all the makers to return and see the results of many hands.

August 9 - September 27, 2020
Opening Reception August 8
Infinite Night, Photography by Stan Honda
The night sky landscapes of New York-based photojournalist Stan Honda show the beauty of the sky in relation to the Earth as it moves through the universe with a multitude of celestial objects. He has worked as an artist-in-residence at six national parks, including Haleakalā National Park on Maui. This exhibition will highlight his recent work of Haleakalā and other works from the night sks project.

October 11 - December 20, 2020
Opening Reception October 10
Cellula
Canadian artist Radha Chaddah makes art about invisible realities in the cellular world using light as her primary medium. Her combined background in film and molecular neurobiology inspired her to combine art and research in stem cell biology to create Cellula. This multimedia installation will include images of various plant and animal cells with microscopic views ten to one million times life size. Video projections and spatial modules will lead visitors through a garden of reflected moving light for a total immersive experience.
