He Makana:

The Gertrude Mary Joan Damon Haig Collection of Hawaiian Art

October 15-December 23, 2017

Tue-Sun, 10 am-5 pm, Schaefer International Gallery

Also open on evenings of select Castle Theater events. Closed Nov 23.

He Makana, meaning "a gift," is a distinguished collection of paintings, prints, and traditional art forms of Hawai'i from the 1890s-1970s, that capture the history and nostalgia of old Hawai'i. Among the treasures to be seen are paintings by three giants of early 20th century island painting: Lionel Walden, D. Howard Hitchcock, and Madge Tennent.

This exhibition is traveling to the Schaefer International Gallery from the Art in Public Places Collection, courtesy of Hawai'i State Foundation on Culture and the Arts. Supported in part by the County of Maui - Office of Economic Development, Hawai'i Tourism Authority, and the Rice Partnership.

OKAREKA DANCE COMPANY: MANA WAHINE

Thursday, October 26, 7:30 pm, Castle Theater

One of New Zealand's most prolific dance companies, Okareka fuses contemporary dance with indigenous Māori themes to create authentic and diverse works. This production, Mana Wahine (Powerful Woman), draws strength from traditional Māori culture, along with bold choreography, set design, and costume, to create an evocative tapestry of dance, theater, and film. Ancient practices of karakia (prayer), waiata (song), and mythology are woven throughout the performance, to enhance the deeply spiritual messages and cultural connection from Aotearoa/New Zealand to the rest of the world.
Tickets: $12, $35, $45, $65; half-price kids 3-12

STEPHEN HOUGH, PIANO

Sunday, Oct 29, 3:00 pm, Castle Theater

Over the course of his career, Stephen Hough has not only distinguished himself as a masterful and insightful concert pianist ("The most perfect piano playing conceivable" - The Guardian), but also as a composer and author. He has composed works for orchestra, choir, chamber ensemble, and solo piano; many of his 50 albums have garnered international prizes.
He is also a recognized writer: his long-running blog for The Telegraph served as a popular and influential forum for cultural discussion. The program for this concert includes works by Debussy, Chopin, and Beethoven.
Tickets: $12, $45, $65

FAUSTWORK MASK THEATRE

Thursday, Nov 2, 7:30 pm, McCoy Studio Theater

For Faustwork founder, Rob Faust, masks are magical objects that have the power to transform. He creates characters based on explorations in the art of the mask, perfectly matched with precise body movements to create vignettes that are a unique synthesis of theatre, physical comedy, music, and poetry.
"Stunning, undefinable... somewhere between the sculptural fantasies of Mummenschanz and the precision mime of Marcel Marceau." — Montreal Gazette
Tickets: $28; half-price kids 3-12
